

FIGHTING FRANCE

Fighting France: from Dunkerque to Belfort

by Edith Wharton (1862-1937)

American novelist Edith Wharton was living in Paris when World War I broke out in 1914. She obtained permission to visit sites behind the lines, including hospitals, ravaged villages, and trenches. Fighting France records her travels along the front in 1914 and 1915, and celebrates the indomitable spirit of the French people.

Edith Wharton

Total running time: 3:20:15

Edith Wharton

Read by Elizabeth Klett

Cover design by Kathryn Delaney
Photograph of Reims Cathedral after bombardment, 1917

FIGHTING FRANCE